4. Committee Matters

Think Tank Update – Laurence Smy advised that the next Think Tank meeting is on 24th January 2012 at 10am at Bucks new University. He said all members of the committee were welcome to attend these bi-monthly meetings. He reported that the visits made by David Picken and Iman Sultan to local schools had been well received. At the invitation of the schools they will be visiting Highworth Combined School in early January and Iman Sultan will be joined by the Bishop of Buckingham for a visit to the John Hampden School in March. The aim is to go into every school in due course. Shafique felt it would be helpful another Imam were able to attend the Think Tank meetings. Tony King asked if others could attend. Laurence felt that the presence of guests needed to be thought through. Responding to a request from Carolina Lindahl for written reports he said he preferred to give verbal ones, but offered to give a similar presentation to the group, possibly at the University.

5. Shafique welcomed Hassan Mahamdallie to the meeting. Hassan gave a presentation on the multiculturalism debate. Martin Smith was unwell and unable to be present. Hassan also touched on some of the issues Martin was going to address. This was followed by discussion and debate, which was followed by a detailed discussion and debate by the CCMR members.

David Picken, thanked Hassan for his contribution and passionate optimism.

6. This is the last meeting to be attended by David Picken, as he leaves to take a new post as Archdeacon of Newark in the New Year. Shafique thanked him for his work and valuable contribution to the community. He also expressed his thanks to All Saints as a whole and the team David had created and also particularly to Helen Byrne. Amir Dad Khan Raja also thanked David Picken and the meeting gave David a standing ovation. David responded, thanking Shafique and saying being involved with setting up the Council had been a life changing experience for him.
